Stephanie D. Curtis

BANKRUPTCY/LITIGATION

Stephanie D. Curtis is a highly-awarded business bankruptcy and complex litigation attorney. Leading the charge against the individuals that bankrupted one of Texas' oldest governmental entities through a civil conspiracy involving bribery and tax fraud, she has diligently fought to recoup millions for Dallas taxpayers since the corruption led to the entity's abolishment. Curtis founded Curtis | Castillo PC in 1999. She has since been named one of D Magazine's Best Lawyers in Dallas and Best Women Lawyers in Dallas as well as D CEO's Women Leaders in Law. Her firm has been named among the Top 100 Women-Owned Businesses in North Texas, and Curtis was awarded Minority Business Leader of the Year by the Dallas Business Journal, 2018. She was also named one of the Ten Best Bankruptcy Attorneys in Texas by the American Institute of Bankruptcy Attorneys and has been repeatedly listed as a Texas Super Lawyer by Texas Monthly and Top Women Attorneys in Texas, 2019. A woman on the go, Curtis not only spends time in the courtroom, but also provides sophisticated guidance in the boardroom. She is a trusted business advisor to many, including high-net-worth investors, family law practitioners, and governmental institutions. Her firm serves as a fee office for Excel Title closing commercial and residential real-estate transactions. Curtis has served as a receiver and restructuring counsel in the construction industry; has reorganized entities to include retail, oil and gas, transportation, and steel manufacturing conglomerates, and she is well-positioned to deliver effective legal advice to businesses, individuals, secured lenders, and private equity investors in various industries.
